

Wind

Wind is the earth's breath when it is lying down for sleep.

Wind sounds like nature's whistle rippling through the forest.

Wind looks like an arrow splitting the air.

Wind remembers when the earth was forming, and the ground was rising.

Wind is a memory of a time when the earth was empty and covered with forests.